Mojave, CA, January 5: Mojave based Scaled Composites and parent company Northrop Grumman announced today a $11,250 donation to the Mojave Foundation, to be used for health and safety investments in public lighting and streetlights. "This donation should allow us to reach our target of doubling the available lighting in Mojave," said Todd Quelet, Executive Director of the Mojave Foundation. "These companies are invested here in Mojave, have been for a long time, and they have a stake in the future of this community."
